

Children graduate from nursery.

Last Tuesday 24 pre-school children from Somersham based Silks Farm Nursery School were looking forward to attending the annual leavers party. However, they had a real surprise when they were all presented with mortar boards and graduation certificates, signed by the Operations Director and Deputy Manager of the nursery.

When asked about the party by Early Years Nursery Nurse Lisa Laws, Lily who is 4 years old said, 'At the party I loved playing pass the parcel.' Amy also 4 said, "I like nursery because mummy says I have too, and to play with the toys and children", which we all thought was rather funny. Simon and Mandy, Amy's parents, felt that their daughter has had a rewarding start to her education and having a graduation party was a fitting closure to her time at Silks Farm Nursery School. Matthew's parents, Michael and Angela, said that they were very proud of their son's graduation from the nursery, but unfortunately this was tinged with sadness as they would miss all aspects of Silks Farm Nursery School, especially the staff, surroundings and all the extra activities offered to the children.

It was an emotional day for the children, parents and staff who had become friends over the years. Selina Swaby director of the nursery said, 'I have known many of these children since they were babies and toddlers, and have seen them develop into little people, all with their own different personalities. We are honoured to have had the opportunity to play a key role in their early years development, a time in their life that is most critical. It is a sad time for me as I will truly miss them all'.
