

Crazy Golf comes to Silks Farm.

Silks Farm Nursery School in Somersham has recently invested in a 9 hole crazy golf course. With numerous exciting obstacles like huge toadstools, giant dice, house, bridge etc. the lucky children at the nursery will have many days of fun.

The golf course was officially opened yesterday by Scott Waterman PGA who is the Club Professional at Lakeside Lodge Golf Centre in Pidley, Cambridgeshire. During his visit Scott gave the children their first golf lesson, showing them how to correctly hold a putter and hit the ball. Scott said, 'It is the first time that I have ever seen children as young as this play golf, and I found it to be both an exhilarating and rewarding experience. I think that it is a fantastic idea to introduce golf to children at such an early age, especially if it is promoted in an appropriate environment'.

Nigel Swaby, Director at Silks Farm Nursery School says, 'The golf course will be used by children as young as 3 years of age, and in addition to them having lots of fun, the children will benefit in many ways as it will help support the development of hand-eye coordination and gross motors skills. In addition to a play activity for the children, the course will be used as a general teaching aid and will support colour recognition, numeracy, literacy, logic and problem solving development.'

David Gooch, Director of D K Fibreglass manufacturers of the course, commented on Silks Farm Nursery School being a proactive business and though it was a great idea for young children to be able to learn through playing crazy golf. He also mentioned that Silks Farm Nursery School was their only nursery customer.
